

The Warmus Library

William Warmus has played a prominent role in studio glass since the mid-1970s as curator, art historian and author. In order to make space for new acquisitions, he is offering for sale a portion of his library: approximately 900 books, monographs, catalogs and other items. Many of these were acquired in the 1980s and 1990s.

The library includes early issues of the Journal of Glass Studies, auction catalogs, and difficult to find monographs from the former Czechoslovakia and other European countries, as well as books and exhibition catalogs documenting the emerging history of studio glass in the United States. This is a working library from a scholar of modern glass, so expect normal wear and tear as well as annotations.

The list that follows describes the material available, including when possible the author, title, date, publisher and city, and approximate number of pages. There is a two page sampling that includes cover images, before the shelf list.
